

W.C.IC attends MDO courses at MS-TCDC in Arusha, Tanzania

MS – TCDC is a non-profit institution in Arusha, Tanzania, aimed at capacity building. This institution commonly known in Tanzania as the Danish centre is situated at 32km from the Kilimanjaro Airport. Excellent facilities together with a quiet and pleasant atmosphere make it an ideal place for reflection and learning.

Two lawyers of the women's counselling and information centre (W.C.I.C) had the privilege to attend the Management for development organisation courses (MDO I and MDO II) in this institution; These courses enable them to understand the role of civil society organisations in development of a democratic society. This equally helps the manager of WCIC to acquire some leadership skills and also to develop tools for the governance and management of programmes or projects.

We learnt the role of development organisation, how to enhance challenges facing these organisations. We also learnt about human resource management, human resource challenges, and recruitment procedures.

We learnt how to manage conflict, and how to build effectiveness in our organisation. All those courses were so relevant to our activities, and we were satisfy to realise that we met all our expectations.

Two field visits in two NGOs were carried out in / HELP TO SELF HELP and WORLD VISION. The purpose of these visits was to see how far all what we have been learning can be implemented.

We were impressed by the international atmosphere in this centre which promotes sharing of experiences and favours cross – cultural discussions. In the MDO group, our group, we had people from seven different countries (Tanzania, Kenya, Zambia, South- Sudan, Somaliland, Cameroon, and Nigeria). Wonderful cocktail of cultures were displayed as energizers during courses to keep us awake. It was just unbelievable...

We hereby, warmly thank our Danish partner RAW, who surprises us by offering to us this opportunity which shows to be indispensable for the Sustainability and the growing of WCIC, we also thank the donors which make this to be possible. We ensure that MS-TCDC will never be disappointed of our performance. Thanks once again.
